Vol. 5 No. 2

Dear Friends,

There is an old, true story told about a man by the name of Ali Facid. He had a small farm and a family. One day a Buddhist priest came by and said to Ali: "You know, there are valuable stones on your property called diamonds, and if you find one of these you could be a wealthy man."

Ali Facid went to bed that night, but the words of the old priest haunted him. He was so obsessed that he felt he must find one of these diamonds so he could become rich.

Ali sold his farm, put his family out to neighbors, and went out to find his acres of diamonds. Months passed. He was broken in body and spirit. His funds were gone. And at the Bay of Barcelona, he threw himself into the sea, never to walk this earth again.

Meanwhile, the man who bought his farm bent over one day and picked up a little stone. He laid it on the mantle that night, not knowing what it was.

August 21st to distribute fliers for the Youth Day Service. Nearly 900 fliers were distributed in two hours.

It wasn't all work! Immediately afterward, Bibleway treated everyone to a special lunch. Mmm, Mmm, Good!

When the Youth Day Service rolled around on August 29th, we had a blast! Our youth speaker, Cameron Edwards, shared an insightful Sunday school lesson entitled, "How to Build a Water Tower that Reaches to the Sky". The emphasis was on humbling ourselves and serving others with the mind of Christ.

Sunday school was followed with the message, "The Only Self-Service that Serves". We learned from the story of Isaac and Rebekah how serving others is the only way to get ahead and be happy.

After the service, everyone gathered beneath a large, 600 square foot tent and enjoyed the best hot dogs, meatballs, baked beans, and lemonade in town!

Our visitors came in all sizes during the special activities. Some, like these young men, just stopped by for a cool drink of lemonade. On a very hot and humid afternoon, the tent was an oasis of refreshment where new friendships were made.

We are grateful for your prayers for this event! Please continue to pray that God will motivate some of our guests to return to our services.
